Dear Uncle Muyangana,

I hope this letter finds you in good health and high spirits. It has been quite some time since we last caught up, and I wanted to take this opportunity to share the latest happenings in my life and hear about yours.

Life here in Lundazi has been bustling with activity. I recently completed my semester at Lundazi

College of Education, and I am eagerly awaiting my results. The coursework was challenging, but with perseverance and dedication, I managed to overcome the hurdles. I have also been involved in various extracurricular activities, such as volunteering for community service projects and participating in cultural events.

In addition to my studies, I have been exploring different career paths and gaining practical experience through internships. It has been an enriching experience, and I am grateful for the opportunities that have come my way.

I would love to hear about your experiences and how life has been treating you in Kabwe. How is your business doing? Have you had any exciting adventures or encountered any interesting people recently? Please do share your stories with me.

I hope to visit Kabwe soon and spend quality time with you and the rest of the family. I miss the warmth and comfort of our hometown and the sense of belonging that comes with it. Until then, let's keep in touch through letters and occasional phone calls.

Sending warm regards to you, Aunt Nalishebo, and the entire family. Take care of yourself, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

With love,

Kaluba John.
